followed by Scottish Conservative and Unionist Party Debate: Lowering Bills for Scotland's Workers

S6M-20294 Craig Hoy: Lowering Bills for Scotland's Workers—That the Parliament calls on the Scottish Government to reduce income tax on working people in Scotland; commits to uprating income tax thresholds in line with inflation in the forthcoming Scottish Budget and in future Scottish Budgets; further commits to removing the Scottish basic rate and intermediate rate of income tax and replacing them with a single Scottish income tax rate of 19 pence on income up to the higher rate threshold, and believes that these fairer measures would begin to reduce the tax differential with the rest of the United Kingdom, put more money into the pockets of working families, and support economic growth by addressing the cumulative effects of current income tax policy.

The Presiding Officer has selected the following amendments

S6M-20294.2 Ivan McKee: Lowering Bills for Scotland's Workers—As an amendment to motion S6M-20294 in the name of Craig Hoy (Lowering Bills for Scotland's Workers), leave out from first "reduce" to end and insert "respect Parliament by outlining its tax policy when it publishes its Budget on 13 January 2026, and ensure that the policy is progressive, fair to the people of Scotland, and supports vital public services like Scotland's NHS, schools, and blue light services."

S6M-20294.1 Michael Marra: Lowering Bills for Scotland's Workers—As an amendment to motion S6M-20294 in the name of Craig Hoy (Lowering Bills for Scotland's Workers), leave out from "calls" to end and insert "understands that the Scottish Government's incompetent approach to the public finances and failure to grow Scotland's economy are leading to heightened budgetary pressures; further understands that income tax should not be used as a substitute for economic growth and believes that, given the pressure on household finances, income tax rates should not increase in the course of the next parliamentary session; welcomes the UK Labour administration's Budget, which tackles the cost of living for households across Scotland by cutting costs on energy bills, lifting thousands of children out of poverty, and increasing wages for hard-working people in Scotland, and believes that the Scottish Labour Party's plan to establish a Scottish treasury with strategic oversight for spending in all Scottish Government departments is essential in order to put an end to waste and ensure that taxpayers' money is treated with respect."

followed by Scottish Conservative and Unionist Party Debate: Stopping the Scottish Government's Business Tax Increases

S6M-20295 Murdo Fraser: Stopping the Scottish Government's Business Tax Increases—That the Parliament recognises that businesses across Scotland are facing an acute and worsening cost crisis, driven by inflation, energy prices, wage pressures, supply chain disruption and weak economic growth; notes with serious concern the scale of proposed increases in rateable values arising from the 2026 non-domestic rates revaluation, particularly in the hospitality and self-catering sectors; believes that sharp and unaffordable increases in non-domestic rates now pose an existential threat to business viability, employment, investment and local economic resilience in many parts of Scotland; notes the growing divergence between Scotland's non-domestic rates regime and those operating elsewhere in the United Kingdom, and the competitive disadvantage that this risks creating for Scottish firms; understands that, since 2022-23, the Scottish Government has failed to pass on at least £700 million in business rates relief received through the block grant; calls on the Scottish Government to act urgently to provide certainty and stability by pausing the implementation of the 2026 revaluation, introducing meaningful transitional protections against excessive bill increases, and matching reductions in bills for the retail, hospitality and leisure sectors in England, and affirms that a strong and thriving business base is essential to Scotland's economic recovery, public finances and communities, and that the tax system should support growth rather than accelerate decline.

The Presiding Officer has selected the following amendments

S6M-20295.1 Ivan McKee: Stopping the Scottish Government's Business Tax Increases—As an amendment to motion S6M-20295 in the name of Murdo Fraser (Stopping the Scottish Government's Business Tax Increases), leave out from "are facing" to end and insert "have seen increased costs in recent years due to rampant inflation and increased energy costs; notes the reliefs and support that are currently in place on non-domestic rates, and recognises that policy decisions by the Scottish Government on these matters will be set out in the Budget on 13 January 2026."

S6M-20295.2 Daniel Johnson: Stopping the Scottish Government's Business Tax Increases—As an amendment to motion S6M-20295 in the name of Murdo Fraser (Stopping the Scottish Government's Business Tax Increases), insert at end "; believes that the current business rates system is not fit for purpose, and calls on the Scottish Government to create a new system that levels the playing field between the high street and online giants, better incentivises investment, tackles empty properties and supports entrepreneurship."
